I am an engineer and a researcher at the end of the Ph.D. candidacy. I am interested in new opportunities in the industry, preferably involving product-oriented research and development in the area of machine learning.

Education

Sep 2017- Ph.D. in Machine Learning, ETH Zürich, Department of Computer Science.
Supervision: Prof. Dr. Joachim M. Buhmann
Topics: Deep generative models; representation learning; EEG sleep analysis; Granger causality;

2013-2016 Master's Degree, ETH Zürich, Department of Computer Science.
Track: Distributed computing;

2009-2013 Bachelor's Degree, University of Belgrade Faculty of Electrical Engineering.

Experience

Autumn 2018 Max Planck Institute for Intelligent Systems, Visiting Researcher.
Topic: Learning causal disentangled representations.

Spring 2017 ETH Zürich, Department of Computer Science, Research assistant.
Topic: Deep learning for sleep classification from EEG signals.

Aut/Win 2016 Logitech Europe S.A. Data Science & Advanced Analytics, Research engineer.
Topic: Mining and predicting behavioral patterns from user log data.

Spr/Sum 2016 Disney Research Zürich, Vision and Sensing Research Group, Master's thesis.
Topic: Metric learning for comparing robot to human motion activity.

Recent Notable Projects

Sleep Learning I developed a web platform for high-throughput analysis of sleep recordings used daily by academic and industrial researchers worldwide: `sleeplearning.ethz.ch`.

SDN I developed a novel neural network for image generation: `github.com/djordjemila/sdn`.

Computer Skills

Proficient in Python, PyTorch, Latex
Solid in C, C++, Matlab, Java
Experienced in Hadoop, SQL, C#, Javascript, NodeJS, HTML, CSS, Ruby on Rails
Other Linux, Microsoft Windows, MS Office, Git

Languages

Serbo-Croatian Native
English Full professional proficiency
German B1 Level
Spanish Beginner

Academic Activities

Autumn 2019 NeurIPS 2019, Disentanglement Challenge, Co-organizer; https://bit.ly/36bTD4W.

2017-2019 Reviewer at NeurIPS, ICML, ICLR.
